Re: Metro Container Site
Trainer, Delaware County, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Sklaney:

The following letter is in response to the Notice of Potential Liability letter, dated August 20, 2013, from Joanne Marinelli to Ms. Ellen Kullman, CEO for E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, for the above-referenced site. Because DuPont has not received information from the agency as to its purported nexus to the Metro Container site relative to the actions which are the subject of the agency's August 26, 2013 Action Memorandum, DuPont hereby requests any information on which EPA relied in issuing its letter, and which would allow DuPont to evaluate its potential liability at this site for the Time Critical Removal Action.

In the interim, DuPont agrees generally to participate in discussions with the agency and other potentially responsible parties ("PRPs"). Informal PRP discussions have already begun, and the chief concern shared among the majority of the seven noticed parties is the lack of additional parties receiving notices of potential liability, particularly in light of documentation from the 1990s suggesting a potential nexus to the site for dozens of additional parties. A joint PRP correspondence to discuss our concerns with the agency is forthcoming.

Finally, kindly remove Ellen Kullman from the distribution list and please designate me as the DuPont Legal contact and Nancy Grosso as the technical contact. Nancy's contact information is as follows: 4417 Lancaster Pike, Wilmington, DE 19805, phone 302-999-3114, and email Nancy.R.Grosso@dupont.com.
